Hi!

Stacy at 05:56 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

Visual and aural literacy is just as important as textual literacy in a music classroom

Michelle at 05:58 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

To me, "literacy in music class" means using music to enhance language reading skills through song and movement.

Stacy at 05:58 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

The first thing that comes to mind is music literacy - aural and written and helping students learn to read and react to a written score.

Coleen at 05:59 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

I think of any type of journaling or reflection most likely to do with a student's own performance or to do with listening

Jenny Pigott at 05:59 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

Primarily a method for a reflection on performance practice.

Lee at 05:59 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

It means being able to truly use the language of music - to read, to write, to play, to understand and to express yourself.

Jennifer Anderson at 05:59 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

Also, being able to use 'musical language' to describe a piece of music or performance.

Music Literacy = ability to indepnedently interpret a piece of music on an instrument.

Luke at 05:59 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

Literacy is a way to analyze music.

Leanne at 06:00 AM, 28 Mar 2013 via

Literacy in music class means being able to read and write musical notation, symbols and style.
